SOUTHERN GLENDALE READY TO CELEBRATE

SEEK FUNDS TO TAKE UP BUS LINE OPTION

Committee of Local Men Tries to Raise $50,000 For Motor Project

By RALPH A. LYND
Of The Evening News Staff

PLANS for a high pressure campaign to secure pledges for $50,000, to be used in exercising the option held by C. D. Gulick for the purchase of the Verdugo Hills Transportation Company, were launched at the luncheon that was held by a number of Glendale's leading business men at the Citizens building yesterday and at which the entire subject was discussed from every angle. The option expires at midnight, Friday, April 27, and the committee, consisting of William H. Hooper, H. M. Butts, Sidney Gilhuly, Councilman Sam Davis, Mayor Spencer Robinson and Alex Mitchell, will canvass the business men of Glendale today to secure the necessary assurances that the money to take up the option will be forthcoming by tomorrow.

Assurances have been received from several prominent subdivisions of the Glendale real estate that they, too, will take an active share in raising the necessary funds or a large part of them.

The purchase of the Verdugo Hills Transportation Company's selling stock and franchise is essential to the success of the motor bus project in Glendale, as the company owns a franchise permitting it to run into Los Angeles, and if this can be secured by the local organization it will, it is claimed, assure the granting of a permit to Mr. Gulick by the state railroad commission at its meeting to be held early in May, when the Gulick application will come up for hearing.

Explains Problems
Ed N. Radtke, the chairman, stated the purpose of the meeting yesterday and Attorney Mattison B. Jones then explained in detail all of the problems that face Mr. Gulick and his associates in putting the bus system into operation here, laying particular emphasis on the necessity of exercising the option before its expiration tomorrow night. Mr. Jones stated that the present campaign is not in any sense a stock selling drive, and he stated that Mr. Gulick is not to receive 250,000 shares of stock in the company which is proposed to be organized, and until a similar amount of preferred stock is sold for cash, and as the stock in the company is sold the stock Mr. Gulick is to receive is to be released from escrow in the same amount.

Mr. Jones expressed the willingness of the Pacific Motor Bus Company, the company which has

Plot To Overthrow Budget System Of State Politicians In Attack Upon Governor

By GIL A. COWAN

SACRAMENTO, April 26.—Efforts to overthrow the budgetary system in the state of California, which was initiated at the last election and now in effect, are being made today in the California assembly. There are those pork barrel politicians who would return this great commonwealth to the spoils system and their farcical efforts in amending appropriation bill 999 only proves the wisdom of economy and efficiency.

The people of this state who overwhelmingly elected Friend W. Richardson to be governor, expressed a desire for curbing the useless expenditures, but from the action of the majority of the legislature it would appear "vox populi" means nothing to politicians.

"You vote for me and I will vote for you" is the policy adopted in the legislature to put over every sort of appropriation and then dump this undigested mass of demands on the desk of the governor. It is a foregone conclusion he will veto them.

And, as a result of this conclusion, now comes the effort on the part of these same politicians that the entire system of state financing be revised, the budget act done away with, and California returned to the spendthrifts of the squanderlust.

People Must Awake
California is now awakening to the true state of affairs. The public must at once respond to the call of the governor and insist that the legislature get back

Bandits Crawl Over Infant To Get Diamonds

VENICE, Cal., April 26.—Crawling through an open window and across a crib in which slept a little baby, two masked bandits at the point of guns demanded of Mrs. Ruth Dannis, 30 Avenue Thirty-nine, two diamond rings valued at $1500, early today, grabbed them and escaped. Before leaving the house, the robbers admonished Mrs. Dannis not to call assistance for ten minutes. They then cut the telephone wires in the house and leisurely strolled out the front door. An hour later two suspects were taken into custody, but were later released.

The robbers entered the Dannis home by ripping the screen from a window and crawled across the bed of a sleeping baby to where Mrs. Dannis was. Passing up gems of lesser value the men selected two rings, one an engagement ring and the other a diamond ring.

Mrs. Dannis told the police she returned to bed for ten minutes and then spread the alarm by calling a neighbor.

NEW DANCE RECORD

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 26.—A. C. Watson, 32 an ex-soldier, hung up a new national dance record of 112 hours today when he stepped from the floor of Turner hall. He had danced with only the customary three-minute intermission, every seven hours, since Saturday. When he stepped from the floor, Watson seemed almost as fresh as when he started. Physicians pronounced him physically O. K. after his long grind.

REALTORS TO AID C. OF C. PLANS FOR INCOME

Board Indorses Change in Financial System; Urges Members Joining

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

THE Glendale Realty Board, at its weekly luncheon yesterday noon in the C. & S. Cafeteria, endorsed the action of its committee in obtaining through conferences with a committee from the Chamber of Commerce, an agreement that hereafter 60 per cent of the total income of the chamber be devoted to advertising, he remaining 40 per cent to be levied to overhead and other items; and that a joint committee, comprising members of the Glendale Realty Board and Retail Credit Men's Association, be empowered to audit the chamber's books to see that his ratio is maintained.

As a balance-wheel to this readjustment, President C. D. Thompson told the board it was the hope of the committee, in coming to the agreement, that members would now come into the chamber solid. At a call for pledges to join, several members agreed so to do.

In this connection City Councilman William A. Horn stated that in his opinion the Chamber of Commerce should have the support of the Realty Board in getting on a new basis, and that he dropped out with the understanding he would re-enter when things were as he desired to see them.

C. of C. Big Need
"We all recognize that a Chamber of Commerce is vital to the progress and prosperity of Glendale," Mr. Horn said, "and the best service we can render, as real estate men of this city, is to get in and help them to get organized on a sound business basis."

Davenport R. Phelps, of the California Real Estate Association, talked briefly, commending the Glendale board on its fine showing at the convention in Long Beach, last Saturday. He then commented on the passage by the present legislature of the real estate bill by which a $2,000 surety bond will hereafter be required of those engaged in this profession, together with other reforms. The bill is now up to the governor for signature, and Mr. Phelps stated that it was his understanding it would be signed within a week.

Mr. Phelps distributed copies of "California Real Estate," the official journal of the California Real Estate Association, and urged members of the local board to join this body, giving them the right to the use of the word "realtor."

Readers to Picnic

Announcement was made by Mr. Phelps of two forthcoming picnics—one at Mooney's Grove, April 28, the annual conference of realtors from the San Joaquin valley; the other, the annual picnic of the Southern California district, California Real Estate Association, at Riverside, May 12.

Charles B. Guthrie then spoke, urging the board to join the state association and to attend these.

Forest Fires Sweep Maryland Timber Land
HAGERSTOWN, Md., April 26.—What was characterized as the most destructive forest fire in the history of this section was still sweeping the mountain at Catoctin Furnace, Md., early today, after having destroyed thousands of acres of valuable timber land. Between 300 and 400 men, forest wardens, fire deputies and residents have been fighting the eight mile wall of flame since early Monday without food or sleep and many last night felt exhausted and had to be carried from the scene.

SCENE MOST BRILLIANT AT ROYAL WEDDING

Lady Bowes-Lyon and Duke of York Are Married In Noted Abbey

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service

LONDON, April 26.—The second wedding in the British royal family in a little more than a year took place in Westminster abbey today, when the Duke of York, second son of King George and Queen Mary, was married to Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Strathmore, an old and noble Scottish family. The ceremony was performed at noon in the presence of a brilliant assembly.

The ring ceremony of the high Episcopal church was used. Like that of Princess Mary, (Viscountess Lascelles), the ring for the bride today was made of gold mined in Wales. Seldom has a more beautiful bride been seen in the gloomy and historic old abbey. She is a petite figure, with raven black hair. She was led to the altar looking like a veritable fairy princess in her girlish wedding gown. It had rained early in the morning, but shortly after 9 o'clock the sun struggled through the clouds, shining at intervals until after the ceremony.

Bride Is Popular
The crowd which viewed the procession to the abbey was larger than that when the Princess Mary was married in February, 1922. Cheers which greeted the coach containing the bride were more vociferous than those which greeted the royal family. Elizabeth was playing a popular figure with the public. There were many Americans in the crowd, some of whom had held their stations all night to prevent losing them.

As the Duke of York entered his carriage at Buckingham palace, a volume of cheering rippled over the crowd, and the cheering increased as this was regarded as a sign of good luck. Elizabeth smiled at the crowd. After the wedding party had returned to Buckingham palace, the King, Queen, bride and groom appeared upon the balcony before the cheering crowd. The small bride was most thin and clung tightly to the arm of her stalwart husband, looking up into his face. A downpour of rain finally drove the party inside.

Gold and Crimson
Elizabeth left her father and her mother in a state coach resplendent with gold and crimson trappings. The coachmen wore capes, gilt-trimmed cocked hats and boots. Four policemen, mounted on white horses, preceded the coach.

It was reported that King George had conferred the title of baroness upon Elizabeth, giving her precedence as the "fourth lady in the land." She takes rank immediately under Mary.

Freighter Runs Ashore Off Coast Of Oregon

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—The big shipping board freighter Brush, operated by the Pacific Steamship Company, is ashore on Point Arago, near Coos Bay, Oregon, and early today sent out a call for assistance. The call for assistance did not indicate whether the vessel was in immediate danger.

LONDON, April 26.—Two hundred and thirty-seven persons, 133 passengers and ninety-nine seamen, are missing from an abandoned Portuguese passenger steamship off the African coast, said a Cape Town despatch to the Daily Express today.

A vessel picked up an S. O. S. from the Portuguese steamer Messina today when off New Orleans. Search revealed the ship deserted and helpless. Investigation showed she hailed from Portuguese ports.

DANIEL CAMPBELL TO SELL TRACT

Exclusive Residential Lots In Northern Section to Go On Market

It was twenty-two years ago that Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell built their home on the Ard Evin estate, located on mountain and foothill property north of Glendale, and commanding an inspiring view of the whole valley. Then there were few homes in that section of the city, but, as the years have passed and Glendale has become a city, this property lying at the foot of the "Green Verdugo Hills" has become the most beautiful and sought for residential property.

Acres around Ard Evin have been subdivided and sold and improved with countless new homes, and now comes the announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Campbell that they are to subdivide their acreage and develop it into one of the most exclusive residential tracts in Glendale.

Daniel Campbell owns ten acres of mountain property, twenty acres of foothill property, which he intends to open for sale, and fourteen acres which he will reserve for his own home.

In subdividing, Mr. Campbell will put through new roads, fully improved, will arrange lots with water, lighting and telephone convenience and will have carried out attractive parking on either side of the sidewalks.

Plans for the new streets call for four running north and south from Kenneth road. They will be Ard Evin drive, Ben Lomond drive, Idlewood avenue and Cheslerford avenue. Cumberland drive will be constructed east and west, north of Kenneth road.

Included in the subdivision will be ten acres owned by Arthur Campbell on Highland avenue between Ard Evin drive and Ben Lomond drive.

Plans for the subdividing are now under way and work on the roads will start shortly. Temporary maps of the lots can be secured from Mr. Campbell.

NEW YORK, April 26.—A new high record for Cuban raw sugar was made in the New York market today when New Orleans refiners bought 10,000 bags at 6 1/2c. This is one-eighth of a cent higher than the previous record price this year.

Subscriptions To Get Bus Option Reach $12,000

THE response by the business men of Glendale to the requests of the committee that is canvassing for subscriptions to the fund needed to take up the option on the Verdugo Hills Transportation Company's franchise, which is to be acquired by C. D. Gulick of Glendale as a part of his campaign to give Glendale a motor bus system, has been most encouraging, according to the statement made by the committee this morning.

When the committee met last night to figure up the amount subscribed it was found that the total was close to $12,000 and it is predicted that the entire sum needed, $50,000, will be available tonight, a full day before the date set for the expiration of the option held by Mr. Gulick.

COMMUNITY SING SATISFIES CROWD

Hollywood Artists Present Program at High School To Capacity Audience

Harmonious inter-community spirit dominated the community "sing" held last night in the Glendale Union high school auditorium, packed to capacity for the talented program arranged by Mrs. J. J. Carter, president of the Hollywood community chorus and presented by talented musicians of the neighborhood.

Praises of Hollywood's musical talent have long been sung and the splendid program presented last night but emphasized the justice of these praises.

Knowing the value of the program Glendale and Hollywood residents crowded the auditorium and by the time announced for the concert every seat was taken. The center section of the auditorium was occupied by Hollywood people and the rest of the room taken by Glendaleans.

Bring Greetings
A. L. Baird, chairman of the Glendale Community Service music committee, opened the meeting and presented Mrs. J. J. Carter, who, in turn, introduced George L. Eastman, president of the Chamber of Commerce of Hollywood.

Response to Mr. Eastman's remarks was given by Jesse Smith, president of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

Greetings from the Hollywood Woman's club were brought by Mrs. John F. Mead, club president.

"ARE ALL OSTEOPATHIC TREATMENTS ALIKE?"
No. Treatments are no more alike than the diseases for which they are given. Nor are two patients with the same ailment treated alike. The cause may be different. We treat the cause. Various patients may have nasal catarrh, all caused by obstruction (partial from pressure) pressing on the blood vessels returning from the head. In one, the pressure may be due to contracted muscles, in the other to irregularity of the vertebral column, in another the first rib and collar bone may be at fault. Reflexes and interference with vasomotor nerves play an important part. Similar diseases may be produced by different lesions, while similar lesions may produce different diseases. Each treatment is given according to the requirements of each individual case.

'Boy Criminals' Fill Institutions, Report
SACRAMENTO, April 26.—Crowded conditions in San Quentin prison and the Preston Reformatory school are largely due to the influx of "boy criminals," many of them serving second or third terms, according to special reports filed by the two institutions yesterday with the state board of control.

Of the prisoners in the two correctional institutions, 782 are classified as "boy convicts," youths ranging in age from 15 to 21, the reports show.

The reports indicate that the great majority of the youthful offenders are American-born, only 173 being of foreign birth.

A large percentage of the youths confined in Preston are mental delinquents, it is set forth, and virtually all of the "boy criminals" were engaged in "unskilled, blind-alley trades" prior to their arrest.

The Preston institution reports that 139 of the 462 boys confined there are known to be "second timers."

In conclusion, the San Quentin report states that "the 365 boys under 21 in San Quentin should be in a reformatory, and not with older felons."

"They might be placed together with many of the older boys in Preston," the report adds.

TAX ON INCOMES YIELDS BIG SUM

Revenue for 3 Year Period Ending March, 1923, Is Over 174 Millions

Residents of Southern California paid the federal government the staggering sum of $174,711,200.93 in income taxes from March 1, 1919, to March 31, 1923, the period covered by a special report which was sent to Washington yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodell. This remarkable showing made by the Los Angeles District places Southern California in the front rank as one of the country's great producers of federal revenue.

Collector Goodell's survey shows that under the operation of the new revenue act the income tax reductions in the Southern California District amount to $7,600,000 per annum, and that during the two years the new revenue legislation has been in force a total income tax reduction of $14,000,000 has been made, which was distributed among 225,000 citizens who made returns. At least $12,000,000 of the $14,000,000 reduction applied to taxpayers whose incomes were less than $4,000.

Glendale Pythians Confer Knight Rank

Castle Hall of the Glendale Lodge No. 351, K. of P., located at Brand boulevard and Park avenue, was comfortably filled at the regular meeting this week by the many members and visitors present to witness the exemplification of the Knight rank. At the close of the meeting a luncheon was served in the banquet hall with Attorney A. S. Davis as toastmaster. Short talks were also given by Messrs. Jones, Peat, Shuch, McGuire and others.

City Official Will Address Builders

H. C. Vandewater, superintendent of the city building department, will address the members of the Builders' Exchange of Glendale in the exchange quarters, 113 North Highland street tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

His topic will be along lines that will be of mutual interest to the members of the exchange as well as the city building department with "Co-Operation" the keynote of both.

The membership campaign is practically over, it being the desire of the officers to make the roster of membership a select one rather than promiscuously enrolling the good, bad and indifferent, so that membership will be a reasonable assurance to the public of skill, honesty and responsibility; and with this in view, states Henry Molz, secretary-manager, "we have endeavored to enroll those meeting our requirements, and of these the majority have become members."

This recital was given under the auspices of Club No. 2 of which Mrs. W. A. Horn is chairman, for the benefit of the furnishing fund for the new club.

War Mothers Meet
Plans for participation in the Glendale Merchants' Exposition were practically completed yesterday afternoon by the Lester Myer chapter of War Mothers of America. Mrs. C. A. Enos was appointed chairman of the booth committee.

The meeting, which was held in the I. O. O. F. hall on West Broadway, was presided over by Mrs. F. W. Cowlin in the absence of Mrs. Florence Padelford, the president.

A SOCIAL EVENTS

At Ard Eevin
The delightful hospitality of Ard Eevin, the foothill home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell, was graciously extended to over fifty guests yesterday, when Mrs. Campbell, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club entertained at luncheon the club council, including board members, curators of all sections, chairmen of all committees, and newspaper representatives.

A happy spirit of good-fellowship and informality marked the day, the affair being an enjoyable gathering of the club executives following the strenuous activity of the Reading Day event and in anticipation of the final events of the club year.

Luncheon tables were arranged in the various rooms of the Campbell home. The table of honor, at which Mrs. Campbell and her immediate board members were seated, was in the dining-room, while other smaller tables were located in the reception hall and living-room.

The centerpiece of each table was a large bouquet of yellow and purple California wild flowers, gathered from the neighboring hillsides by Mrs. Campbell's little niece, Mary Elizabeth Campbell. At the table of honor, a shower of small pink ribbon streamers fell from the chandelier over the bouquet.

Places were marked by cards decorated with hand-painted sketches of roses in either yellow or pink. At Mrs. Campbell's table individual gift favors added to the enjoyment of the luncheon hours.

Mrs. Campbell was assisted by her two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Campbell of Glendale, and Mrs. Clarence T. Manwaring of Los Angeles. Mrs. Campbell presiding over the table in the reception hall, and Mrs. Manwaring serving as presiding hostess over the tables in the living room.

Before the luncheon hour the club women enjoyed an informal time and during the serving of the four-course luncheon songs and reminiscences of the past year and preceding years were features.

It was during the luncheon that the members of the board gathered about Mrs. Campbell and the following to their president: "Oh, Mrs. Campbell, we love you so well."

Your faith and courage we do adore. Accept these greetings. And club board meetings. Any Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday All day till half-past four."

During the afternoon Mrs. W. P. MacMullin delighted with a group of vocal numbers. She was accompanied by Mrs. H. R. Boyer, and sang "The Enchanted Glade" (Barker), "Rose in the Bud" (Forster), and "Under the Lanterns" (Sanderson).

Mrs. Boyer also entertained with her playing of "Medley of American Songs," "The Blue Danube" and other selections.

Other features were readings, pleasingly given by Mrs. R. E. Chase and Mrs. A. H. Montgomery.

Recital Success
The song recital given last Wednesday evening at the Glendale Presbyterian church by Miss Elizabeth Mottern, soprano, assisted by Miss Bernice Hall, pianist, and Miss Jane Kennicott, violinist, proved very enjoyable. The artists, who are all advance students in the music department of the University of Southern California, were greeted with an appreciative and enthusiastic audience.

Miss Mottern delighted her audience with her sweet voice charming manner, with the three groups of songs which she sang, the first group consisting of three old Scotch ballads, the second group, four songs by American composers, and the third group consisted of three songs of other countries.

Miss Hall's solo number was greatly enjoyed and she also proved herself a most satisfactory accompanist.

Miss Kennicott's charming personality and the finish of her rendition of the Saint-Saens and Wagner numbers greatly impressed her hearers.

This recital was given under the auspices of Club No. 2 of which Mrs. W. A. Horn is chairman, for the benefit of the furnishing fund for the new club.

Concert at Club
An unusually fine musical treat was enjoyed Tuesday night at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse auditorium, when Flora Phyllis Kilpatrick, dramatic soprano and Hallett Gillette, composer-pianist, gave a concert recital. There were about 200 friends of the artists in attendance.

Mr. Gillette is a well-known musician and composer. He has devoted his time in recent years to singing his own songs in the cities and touring the country with artists who feature his songs with him at the piano. His piano numbers were enthusiastically received.

Miss Kilpatrick is a recent arrival in Glendale, coming from New York City. She has studied exclusively with Mrs. Frances A. Grant of New York, and has made a concert tour of the eastern states. Miss Kilpatrick has a rich full voice and delighted her hearers with the several numbers she rendered.

Radio Program
A radio program will be the feature of the evening's entertainment tonight at the First Methodist Episcopal church, given under the auspices of the Epworth League.

The program will begin at 8 o'clock sharp and will be broadcasted from the Los Angeles Examiner radio station. Vocal, instrumental, and elocution selections will be given by several well-known artists, some of the finest talent in Southern California. Dr. A. R. Moore will give the inaugural address.

Following the program, refreshments and a social evening will be enjoyed.

Circle Meeting
The regular weekly "supper" and Bible study hour of the Glendale Christian Church club will be held tonight at 5:45 o'clock in the social hall of the Central Christian church, corner of Louise street and Colorado boulevard.

Give Card Party
Mr. and Mrs. George J. Lyons of 359 Riverside drive, entertained a number of friends at card and dancing last evening. The rooms were decorated with a profusion of spring flowers and baskets of yellow Japanese iris.

Late in the evening dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Those present were Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Corrigan, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Staley, Mr. and Mrs. Max Green, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McBain, Dr. and Mrs. L. Rankin, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Baird and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Lyons.

The land includes 222,700 acres in Owyhee county, Idaho; 24,000 acres in Beaver Head county, Montana; 18,900 acres in Elko and Eureka counties, Nevada; 5,500 acres in Rio Arriba county, New Mexico, and 4,500 acres in Mesa county, Colorado.

LOS ANGELES, April 26.—Charles Marshall, who was arrested in this city on April 14 on the charge that he defrauded a Jacksonville, Fla., citizen in a race track gambling swindle, is facing prosecution on a second swindling charge, according to the police. It was stated by police officials here that Marshall is suspected of having fleeced William Miller, an attorney of Springfield, Ill., of $14,000 in a mining stock deal.

TWO MEN KILLED

JOPLIN, Mo., April 26.—Two men were killed and eight others injured, not seriously, when a small mixing house of the General Explosives Company, eight miles from here, blew up. The men killed were William McVey, 35, a superintendent, and Glenn Spoonhour, 21. Property damage will amount to approximately $5,000, it is estimated.

BURBANK

RECEIVES THANKS

Courteous Treatment of Policeman Wins Him
Favorable Letter

Traffic Officer F. Olchvary, one of Burbank's crack "speed cops," had the surprise of his life the other day, when he received a letter from an Angeleno he had "pinched" for excessive agitation of the accelerator while passing through this city, said letter actually thanking him for the act.

The letter follows:
"Officer F. Olchvary,
"Traffic Dept., City of Burbank,
"Burbank, Calif.

"Dear Sir: I wish to take this opportunity of thanking you for your very courteous treatment of myself and Miss Elliott while in the performance of your duty.

"If all traffic officers acted in the manner in which you do, we would have fewer citizens breaking the laws of the state.

"Yours very sincerely,
"J. EAST GORDON,
"Assistant Sales Manager, Robert
"Marsh & Co."

Officer Olchvary says he is going to hand that document down to his grandchildren as an example of the strange, wonderful and miraculous, to say nothing of what they teach in Sunday school about the "Golden Rule."

Speeders Good Pleaders
The variety and ingenuity of excuses made by those who exceed the speed limit is something to wonder at, feels Police Magistrate Crawford, before whom wretched victims who have tried to burn up the road, and their tires, must salam.

Some claim they didn't realize how fast they were going (not very original, this); some bewail the fact that their speedometer is broken (in some instances the story is altered to "missing"); some claim they were outside the city limits (and what were they doing there?); while others were "rushing home with medicine" (and strong medicine, sometimes!); "didn't know it was against the law" (those chaps are in bad for fair!); "just learning to drive" (the accelerator stuck, "the brake wouldn't work"—ad boredom.

Out of a hundred speeders, probably 5 per cent "fess up" and open their pocketbooks ungrudgingly. The rest have ninety-five different sorts of alibis, a complete compilation of which, carried through the course of a year, would fill a book so large that the famous "Doomsday Book" would be a vest pocket almanac by comparison, says Magistrate Crawford.

Mystery Shrouds Fire
And Watchman's Death

LOS ANGELES, April 26.—The mystery of a possible murder has crept into the investigation of the cause of the fire, which Tuesday night partially destroyed the French Sardine Company's plant at Los Angeles harbor, when the charred remains of Nick Evrich, watchman, with his head horribly crushed, were found among the smoldering ruins. Damage caused by the fire was announced at $36,000 by insurance adjusters.

Origin of the fire is a mystery as no one was supposed to be in the plant except Evrich.

NOT YET DECIDED

WASHINGTON, April 25.—To quiet widespread reports and rumors as to the plans and intentions of the government with respect to the prosecution of the members and directors of the New York Sugar Exchange, Acting Attorney-General Seymour declared in a formal statement that the department had not yet decided whether or not these men would be prosecuted under the federal criminal statutes.

LADY ELIZABETH BOWES-LYON'S TROUSSEAU

Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon chose an elaborate trousseau for her marriage to the Duke of York, second son of the British rulers. Here are the first pictures received in America of a portion of her gowns and hats. One of the hats is a black crinoline straw, with laurel wreaths above the crown, veiled with a dead leaf green chiffon. Another is of green straw, trimmed with dark green grapes, the brim being lined with blue taffeta. As the new Duchess is an ardent sportswoman, one of her gowns is a knitted golfing suit of fawn-colored wool.

Mixup In Europe Is
Rev. Prout's Theme

That the outcome of the present "terrible mixup" in Europe may be known from a study of Bible prophecy, was affirmed by Rev. C. S. Prout to a Wednesday night congregation at the Adventist Tabernacle in Eagle Rock. Rev. Prout had advertised to tell what the Bible had to say on this subject. The Bible, he declared, is a thoroughly up-to-date book.

After speaking of the desperate condition of affairs in Europe, concerning which he quoted statements from various publications, Rev. Prout called attention to the prediction made by Christ as recorded in Luke 21:25-26, that in the latter days there would be "upon the earth distress of nations, with perplexity," and that men's hearts would be "failing them for fear." There was never before, he said, such a general world picture of confusion, lack of international concord and co-operation, national bankruptcy, industrial chaos, famine and pestilence, and general distress.

The speaker dwelt at some length upon the importance of the study of Bible prophecy, that we may understand and be prepared for what is coming.

Next Sunday night Rev. Prout's theme will be, Red Russia's Challenge to God, and What Will Be the Outcome?

Renegade Piute Is Buried Amid Rocks

BLANDING, Utah, April 26.—The body of Old Posey, renegade Piute war chief, lies today in a niche of rocks near Combawash, buried by United States Marshal J. Ray Ward and four of the captured members of Posey's band.

Following a tribal pow-wow held within the stockade here before a huge camp fire, Mancos Jim, 108 year old chieftain of the band, told the marshal that Old Posey had been shot and killed in a skirmish with pursuing possees near Combawash on or about March 28, and that the Indians would lead him to it.

Joe Ute, Posey's Big Boy and Charley's Boy led the marshal to the spot on the rim of the canyon where Old Posey and his band had sought to stop the whites. Old Posey's body was lying huddled in a little cave where he had crawled to die.

They took the body out and carried it to the hillside and there buried it in a secret place, the location of which will not be revealed.

Thus ends the latest Indian scare in the San Juan basin. Allotment of lands by the government to the remaining members of the band will obviate further trouble, settlers believe.

Influx of New Residents Causes Opening of Many New Tracts

The influx of newcomers continues at an increasing rate at Tujunga, and the real estate business is becoming more and more attractive. Many who have hitherto dabbled in this commodity as a side line are giving it more attention, with gratifying results. Many new tracts are being opened in all parts of Tujunga and suburbs, including the canyons, where many ideal mountain cabin homes are being built.

One of the latest to turn attention to the selling of real estate is Miss Zoe Gilbert, a pioneer of Tujunga from the days of the Little Landers, when the new desirable lots were nothing but a mass of rock and brush. Miss Gilbert purchased one of the first lots sold in the townsite in 1913, and has owned and operated a gift shop on her property at 156 South Sunset boulevard a greater part of the time.

Evidence of the increasing population is found in the following list taken from the applications for electric lighting service. A large crew is kept constantly busy installing new service wires here since the Edison company opened their office two weeks ago.

List of Applicants

L. Herbert Satterlee, First and Hill, Sunland; Thomas J. McFadden, 214 North Sunset; Charles S. Horahan, 406 East Michigan avenue; Morgan A. Will Give Lecture

The Tujunga Woman's club is to be treated to a lecture by Mrs. Mae Githrie Tongier in the early part of May. Mrs. Tongier is a well-known lecturer, and will take for her subject this time "Shasta Daisies and Folks." It is the story of one of Luther Burbank's many achievements in transforming flowers.

Mrs. Tongier has made Tujunga the scene of a rest preparatory to taking up a long lecture tour on the chautauqua circuit, and will give this lecture just before her departure for the benefit of the club fund.

Mrs. Francis Robbins, a newcomer to Tujunga, was christened in the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, Monsignor Tonello officiating. Youthful James Francis entertained a few of his friends in the afternoon after the christening ceremony with Mother Goose songs on the Victrola and refreshments.

The godparents are Mrs. P. J. Blake, Frances Morgan, W. J. Buckley and Joseph Dunaway. Young James was named as host by his mother; his aunt, Mrs. W. T. Johnson; Miss Frances Morgan and Mrs. Leon Harvey.

The Woman's club of Tujunga will meet next at the home of Mrs. Harriet Mills on North San Ysidro street on Thursday, April 26. The subject for discussion will be the nature study, and a speaker has been invited to address the meeting on wild flowers and explain them to the ladies.

In order to straighten out the confusion that has been occasioned by a misunderstanding of the mail time, postmaster Ashby announces that the time of departure from Tujunga is at 11:45 a. m. and 4:45 p. m. The mails arrive here at 8:30 a. m. and 2:30 p. m.

Order School Plans

The meeting of the school board last Saturday resulted in the authorization of the architect in drawing up plans for the entire buildings to be erected as completing units of the grammar school now under construction.

The board desires to give the best value for the money they have in hand to work with, and will consider every angle of the new plans with this object in view. Specimens will be submitted at the next meeting and it is expected that bids will be called for soon after on the plan selected.

The plan for a room or rooms under the auditorium was abandoned when it was shown that the lighting problem is one in this instance that cannot be satisfactorily met.

The Reading circle of the Parent-Teachers' association met last Friday at the home of Mrs. B. B. Reynolds at Los Angeles and San Ysidro streets. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Bodkins on Sunset boulevard, Friday afternoon from 1 to 3 o'clock.

This meeting holds a special interest to the ladies as they will review the book they have been reading. It is called "The School Master in a Big City," and has proven an absorbing topic.

Mrs. Mariel Genevieve McClimans, wife of Augustus M. McClimans, who was 29 years old, died very suddenly last week following a short illness. Mrs. McClimans came to Tujunga for a change of climate and was out driving with her husband when death came. Beside the husband the deceased leaves a mother, three children, aged 10, 6 and 3, and three brothers to mourn her loss.

The Fremont Country Club of Iowa was entertained by Mrs. R. G. Simons and her daughters, Margaret and Baby, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Simons was president of the club for three years and has been planning this gathering for some time.

The Parent-Teachers' Association convention opens in Los Angeles today and tomorrow. Twelve delegates will attend from Tujunga and they will carry the new banner authorized for purchase at the last meeting. The convention will be held in the Walker Building on Grand Avenue.

La Canada was the winner in the elementary school league of the valley and was challenged to a post-season game after they had hung up a record of eight straight victories by Tujunga. The game was played on the La Crescenda grounds and the Tujunga athletes had an easy time, winning 16 to 3. Tujunga won five and lost four in the season, while La Canada could only annex one game during the season.

Dr. E. T. Theobald, who has been ill, is reported very much improved.

Mrs. Powell and daughter Louise of Tujunga are planning a trip to Honolulu, where they will spend some time this summer.

Mrs. E. N. Lee of Tacoma, Washington, has been in Tujunga to look after property interests.

Fred W. Pickrel has disposed of his property at 325 South Marshall street, Tujunga, and has left for Michigan on an extended business trip. The buyer was Mr. Carson E. Moore.

Mr. L. D. Underhill has remodeled and redecorated her home on Sunset Boulevard and is planting shrubs and trees on the grounds.

C. H. Baker has purchased a lot on Michigan avenue and is erecting a small building on the rear. He plans improvements on the frontage.

The property at 354 North Stevens Way has been taken by Robert F. Kimble, agent for the Nash automobile in Los Angeles.

Mrs. R. G. Simmons, of Los Robles avenue is the proud grandmother to a new grandson, who arrived at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leon Hopkins of Eagle Rock, last week. The boy was born at the St. Vincent hospital.

Entertainers Brother
Mrs. Perry Harrison is entertaining her brother, whom she has not seen since childhood, from Laguna, New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Goldsborough have returned to their Tujunga home from Los Angeles where they have spent the winter.

A surprise party descended on the "Casa de los Amigos" last Saturday evening, and spent the evening listening to the radio concert. Those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. R. Labory and son, Marvin; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Wilson, daughter Winifred and two sons, Donald and Stanley Jr., all of Los Angeles. Delicious home made ice cream and cake was enjoyed in the evening. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Labory are executives in the sales branch offices of the Union Oil Company of California on Mateo street, Los Angeles.

MONTROSE CHURCH SECURES MONTROSE SITE

Check Up Territory, May Erect Building in Near Future, Is Belief

A pioneer church is being considered for Montrose.

Rev. Clifford A. Cole stated yesterday that the establishment of a branch for residents of the up-country is being seriously considered by the Central Christian church.

With a view to the future, a church site was recently purchased in Montrose on behalf of the Christian Missionary society of Southern California for the Christian church.

This property is located near the heart of Montrose of the north-west corner of Mira Vista and Ocean View avenue. It has a frontage of 120 feet on Mira Vista avenue and 146 feet on Ocean View avenue.

"Our plans are somewhat indefinite at the present time," remarked Rev. Cole. "We are uncertain as to whether a Sunday school would be sufficient to meet the needs of Montrose and the surrounding district at the present time. We may decide to erect a complete church. It may be possible that this will be a community church similar to that at Tujunga."

Conduct Canvass

A canvass is to be made of families in the vicinity of the new site Friday afternoon by women of the Central Christian church. This will be under the direction of Wayne Neal of Los Angeles, young people's secretary of California.

The result of the canvass, according to Rev. Cole, will reveal the proper course of action. He intimated that, as soon as the proper procedure has been determined, no time will be lost in putting it into effect.

The Central Christian church has been watching the growth of Montrose with much amazement. It feels that, even although a Sunday school may be sufficient for the present, it will not be long until a complete religious plant is necessary.

Fireproof Garage

Work is being rushed upon a fireproof garage upon the north-west corner of Verdugo road and Community street for the Barnum and Walter Company.

Concrete building blocks, made by the Concrete Brick and Tile Company at 440 South San Fernando road, are being used in the construction of this building, which is now about one-third completed.

The floor of the interior will contain about 5000 square feet. The frontage on Verdugo road is fifty feet and the depth on Community street, which leads to the Community building, is 160 feet. It will be one story in height and the estimated cost is $7000. Of course this does not include the price of any of its equipment.

According to H. E. Barnum, the building has been leased to Richard Brocklesby and will be operated as a commercial garage.

Checks Subdivisions

George Randall of Los Angeles, representative of the county real estate appraiser's office, has been working in Montrose and vicinity this week checking up on new subdivisions. He expressed amazement at the growth of the district since his visit last year.

"This district has shown more progress in the past year," he remarked, "than I would believe possible for a district to have. It is absolutely amazing. Last August's valuation figures are away but of date."

Scandinavian Triple Entente May Result From Royal Parley

LONDON, April 26.—Once more the three kings of Scandinavia are coming together to discuss their joint interests, and, above all, their just defense. They are seizing the occasion of the celebration of the silver wedding of the king and queen of Denmark to hold their convention at Copenhagen.

Seven years have elapsed since these three monarchs met to consider matters of joint concern. In 1916 they held a memorable meeting at which they decided to stand together against Germany in the defense of their neutrality.

But the menace has not been removed. Although the Hohenzollern monarchy has disappeared from the scene, at any rate for the time being, yet the Germans have never abandoned their dream of converting the entire Baltic, with all its boundless possibilities of trade and of commerce, into a great and exclusively Teutonic inland sea, from which all other nations would be barred by a protective tariff of the nature of the old-time Zollverein.

Ex-Empress William was never tired of intriguing in this direction and strove with all his might and main to bring Scandinavia within the German economic and political sphere. He was bitterly disappointed when after having fomented the differences between Sweden and Norway until these two sister kingdoms parted from one another, that Norway should have decided—by a narrow majority, it is true—to revive her former monarchy in favor of Edward VII's Danish son-in-law and of his own daughter Maud, instead of proclaiming a republic, which would have been far more amenable to his own views. He spent his time in alternately cajoling and threatening the Danish people to antagonism against their rulers, while in Sweden, despite the fact that he was so closely related and apparently so devoted to the German-bred Queen Victoria, he was quietly fostering all the time the socialist propaganda against the monarchy.

The Kaiser has ceased to be a factor in the game. But his policies in this direction are being pursued without any interruption by the government of Berlin, by the great industrial magnates who play so great a role there, and by the leaders of the socialist masses.

King Gustav of Sweden has for some time past been alive to this Teutonic peril, the realization of which came to him in the nature of a surprise, although his father, King Oscar, was wholly awake to its existence. It is appreciated to the full by King Haakon and by his brother, King Christian. It is clear to all three of them that the only means by which the German menace can be combated is through union and co-operation.

At the time when, during the great war, the ex-kaiser threatened each of the three monarchs in turn to invade their dominions unless they threw in their lot with the Central Powers, each of them felt that they would not be able to offer any very serious or lasting resistance singly—all the more as Great Britain and France had their hands full at the time and the United States had not entered into the fray. So they, in 1916, decided to stand together against Germany.

There are other reasons why the three kings should meet. Differences carefully fomented by foreign agencies have arisen between their respective governments. Unfortunately, these differences have been reflected in the newspapers and in the legislatures of the three countries concerned, and exploited by politicians either for the sake of personal notoriety or in order to further their designs. Thus, one would imagine from the ravings of the newspapers of Christiania and Copenhagen, and from the violent utterances of their shallow politicians, that Denmark and Norway were on the eve of war with one another in connection with their conflicting interests in Greenland and in Spitzbergen.

There is no doubt that in the face of the vastly more important issues at stake these differences could be easily settled by King Haakon and King Christian when they meet at Copenhagen this month—the more so as they are brothers. There have likewise been causes of friction between Sweden and Denmark, which though trivial in their inception, have been the cause of no little ill-feeling, which doubtless will be smoothed away when King Gustave comes to Copenhagen to meet his two fellow kings, who are very closely related to him by ties of blood.

Blackhand Given Sentence Of Death

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., April 26.—Samuel Muratore, Italian blackhand convicted, of the murder of James Papara, was sentenced in criminal court here yesterday to die on the gallows at the state penitentiary at Mountsville, June 22. Muratore is to be hanged the same day and at the same place where three other convicted blackhands will be hanged for their parts in the reign of terror, arson and murder hereabouts.

James Aiello, a Meadowbrook miner, was also sentenced today by Judge Southern to be hanged at Mountsville the same day for the murder of Joseph Guzzi, clerk in a Meadowbrook store.

This makes five to be hanged the same day.

Steel Trust to Pay Regular Dividends

NEW YORK, April 26.—Directors of the United States Steel Corporation have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1 1/4 per cent on the common and 1 1/2 per cent on the preferred stock.

The corporation reported net earnings for the quarter ended March 31, of $34,780,069 after all expenditures and federal taxes had been made, against $27,552,392 in the previous quarter and $19,339,955 in the first quarter of 1922.

A surplus, available for dividends for the quarter after the deduction of federal taxes and other charges of $17,518,051 was reported against $11,283,346 in the previous quarter.

Shoe Workers Gain Points; Quit Strike

LYNN, Mass., April 26.—The strike of Lynn shoe workers which has practically paralyzed industry here ended today when 10,000 operatives returned to their benches.

The operatives won recognition for the Amalgamated Shoe Workers union and an agreement from the Manufacturers' association to drop all court proceedings as well as to settle all wage and other differences.

For centuries, the location of the Burmese ruby-mines was a secret closely guarded by the rules of that country.

EAGLE ROCK C. OF C. MEETING FILLED WITH PEP

Lots of Enthusiasm Comes Forth at Gathering to Launch Campaign

Enthusiasm, an outstanding feature of the Chamber of Commerce meeting held at the Club-house Tuesday night, continued throughout the evening, firing of the first guns in the membership campaign seeming to awaken echoes on all sides, as the business men, both young and old, responded, when called upon to volunteer for service on the membership committee; fifty-six designating their willingness to help the campaign to success.

The charter membership list, which had claimed the names of more than a score, before the meeting opened, grew to promising proportions before the close, showing a list of over sixty-five names, agreeing to a fee of $12 a year each. Dividing the city into five precincts, a captain was appointed for each, and a meeting of these captains, who are to appoint four workers, has been called for Friday night at the City Hall, to be followed by a second meeting next Tuesday night.

Following splendid community singing led by J. E. Lewis, when the spirit of good fellowship seemed to have reached its highest pitch, H. B. Pier, secretary of the Venice Chamber of Commerce, where he has been successful in promoting projects for the development of the city, delivered an address in which he covered many of the main points in the work of building a Chamber of Commerce.

Must Be Active

"Your Chamber of Commerce must be your active body," stated Mr. Pier. "It will be successful due to the right kind of effort." He referred to the tremendous honor due to Frank Wiggins, pioneer of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, to whose vision Mr. Pier attributed much of the development and present wealth of Los Angeles and Los Angeles county.

"A Chamber of Commerce is necessary for these things," he continued. "For business development, for industrial development, for educational features, and for idealism. The first organization came into being to further the selfish interests of a group of business men, but through years of development has become an organization whose primary object is to serve the community, teaching the people of the community to work and to live well together. When we have learned to work and to live well together, we have solved the major problem, and the other things fall easily into line."

"The basis of the organization is that it is representative of all, and holds the leadership, backed by the entire membership. It is the greatest business institute, when properly functioning, in the entire community."

Rev. George P. Taubman, pastor of the Christian church of Long Beach, where he conducts a Sunday Morning Bible class, said to be the largest in the world, was the next speaker.

"You are not interested in manufacturing here," Rev. Taubman stated. "You are interested in keeping away from the very thing that Long Beach wants, because you wish to keep this a home community. You want to see your children keep their rosy cheeks, and you want this to be a safe place in which to rear your children. That is why you are going to need a Chamber of Commerce to keep away the things you do not want, for, if there is no organized civic organization, these things against which you are now fighting are going to come in."

May Come Too Fast

"I am going to reproach you people, because I feel that your attitude during the past three years has warranted it. You should have had such an organization as the Chamber of Commerce on a solid basis three years ago, in order to combat the things that are now facing you. I refer to the district surrounding Occidental college. What do you find there? A district of shacks and unsightly places, when it should be a place to invite the cultured class that would naturally migrate to a college district. This condition is a black eye to you city, and you have been sitting here like lumps on the side of a hill, and allowing it."

"There is no doubt in my mind as to whether or not the people are coming to Eagle Rock. My only fear, from all indications, is that they will come too fast, and you will be unprepared to take care of them. So, the burden of my message to you tonight, is to organize and provide against the things that knock at your door, lest they become your enemies."

O. J. Root, president of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce delivered a short address, stating that although circumstances had hitherto been against the Chamber of Commerce in efforts to increase its membership, he believed that the future would hold success, and that he did not feel discouraged. He stated that he felt complete confidence in the campaign being organized by Ben Schouboe and George Stevenson, whose work has been against the Chamber of Commerce in Southern California.

Following the signing of pledges to assist in the drive, Mr. Schouboe announced that coffee and sandwiches had been prepared, and all adjourned to the dining hall.

An informal meeting of the five precinct captains was held before the workers departed, and plans were laid for the next steps of the campaign. The precinct captains

Contest For Queen
Twelve fair maidens of Eagle Rock are competing for premier honors of the May festival to be given by the American Legion auxiliary May 5, at the Women's clubhouse.

The selection of the May Queen is to be made on the 27th and 28th of April, when the auxiliary will hold a candy sale at the safety zone around the flag-pole. The candidates for Queen will sell the candy, which is to be made by auxiliary members. The most successful saleslady is to be made Queen, and she will be chosen from the following: Dorothy Squire, Olive Lee, Emily Berry, Donas Sample, Evelyn Sample, Velma Bolton, Jane Butler, Anna May Muir, Dorothy Pearce, Helen Miller, and Florence Fischer.

These girls are to take part in the May-pole dance, and one other whose name has not yet been announced, is to join the competition. Mildred Lereen has had charge of drilling the girls who will give the dance.

Mothers' Day Fete
Word was received today by Mrs. A. R. Rose, president of the American Legion auxiliary, that the Mothers' Day fete, planned by the auxiliaries and the California Soldiers' Widows Home association, is to be given Saturday, May 12, at Elysian Park, Los Angeles.

Reservations for the day may be made with Mrs. Rose, 211 North Acacia avenue. The mayor of Los Angeles, and the city council, who are patrons of the association, will be present on this date. There will be a ball game in the afternoon, and a military band that night, also other events. Mrs. Rose was appointed the Eagle Rock member of the committee in charge of the day's festivities.

On Tour Of East
Reginald Marshall, professional xylophone player, whose mother, Mrs. M. L. Marshall, resides in Eagle Rock, is expected home from an eastern tour, about the first of June. He has been touring eastern states for more than six months.

Students of the Central school attended an educational picture show given in the auditorium yesterday afternoon. The film covered points in health topics and geography.

Mrs. H. S. Reed and Mrs. E. B. Hayhurst, teachers at the Central school, have been absent since the first of the week, due to illness.

Mrs. Mary Thornrose passed away Monday, April 23, 1923, at her home, 266 East Sycamore avenue, at the age of 50 years.

The deceased is survived by her husband, A. G. Thornrose, by a son and two daughters, Mrs. Florence Endicott, of Eagle Rock, and Mrs. Dorothy Manning, of Los Angeles. She had resided in Eagle Rock for two years.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday, April 25, from the parlors of the C. F. Lamb Company.

Startling Expose in Booze Ring Threatens

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Amazed by disclosures of whiskey interests, revealing how "influence" has been sold for fabulous sums to "suckers" in the bootlegging fraternity, the department of justice threatens a startling expose that may involve hundreds of persons, including both those who are now on government payrolls and some who have posed as federal officers.

Charges of crookedness laid before the treasury department by wet interests in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and other cities have aroused Acting Attorney-General Seymour and he has announced that every facility at the command of the government will be used to hunt down and punish those who have "attempted to purchase influence" as well as those who have "promised to deliver such influence for payment."

Assistant Attorney-General Crim in charge of the criminal branch today talked over long distance telephone with William J. Burns, now at Los Angeles, concerning charges presented by a Philadelphia saloon-keeper involving Gaston B. Means, former department of Justice agent.

Subsidy Measure Is Cause of Argument

SACRAMENTO, April 26.—Senator J. M. Inman's bill to make the acceptance of a subsidy by any candidate for office a felony was the subject of a hot debate in the senate yesterday. The morning session adjourned without any action being taken on the bill.

Senators Inman, Harris and Murphy denounced the giving of subsidies to candidates as a subversive of democratic government.

Senators West of Alameda and Rominger and A. B. Johnson of Los Angeles denounced the Inman bill as freak legislation.

Inman said that any man in office who accepted a subsidy became the representative of the interests subsidizing him and could not truly represent the people.

RESTRICT BATHS AND GET FINED

No Reason for Anything Like That Happening in Sunny Southland

In a communication stressing the fact that cleanliness is the foundation upon which a successful nation is founded, the Sanitary Development League of Southern California, composed of leading firms of the plumbing industry, has prepared official data on the restrictions put on bathing eighty years ago as compared with the measure to enforce cleanliness today.

Eighty years ago, it is pointed out, Philadelphia passed a law prohibiting bathing between November and March while in Boston a few years later it was made unlawful to bathe unless a doctor prescribed it. And getting a doctor's prescription to bathe was almost as difficult as getting a doctor's prescription today for something just as wet.

In the news dispatches of the last few days came the story that a group of wash tub manufacturers had been fined because they restricted bathing in the rural communities by restraining the sale of tubs through high prices.

Saturday Night Bath
"It is estimated that 3,000,000 persons throughout the United States are restricted to a Saturday night formality which has as its features a pump, a wooden tub used Mondays for inundating shirts and unmentionables, and a cake of soap."

"Mirror the city bathroom in contrast with its perfectly appointed white enamel tub and overhead shower, highly polished nickel railings and tooth brush holders for each member of the family. Bathing under such environment is a pleasure."

The campaign of the Sanitary Development League to educate the public to the modern methods of sanitation and the use of the best in plumbing materials is going far toward improving conditions, it is stated.

Materials and the installation of bathing facilities are within the reach of every family today, it is asserted, so there is no reason why the people of Southern California should be restricted at all in their

WILL SELL HALF OF SECOND UNIT

Suburban Realty Co.'s Lots
Will Be Subject of Rapid-Fire Sale

Fifty per cent of the total number of homesites in Suburban Heights Unit No. 2, offered to the public at special profit-making terms, were sold during Saturday and Sunday last, the two big opening days.

"Our big lot sale last week was the success of the season, both for buyer and seller," said Alfred R. Johnson, sales manager of the Suburban Realty Company.

"Our opening announcement stated plainly that after the initial payment there would be no further payments for two years. This financing method was arranged in order that everyone with a few spare dollars could secure a lot and at no additional expense, sit still and wait until the lot had been resold. That such favorable payments were appreciated was evidenced by the large crowds that attended our tract office at Tenth and Western avenue last Saturday and Sunday."

"It is our intention to hold another rapid-fire sale at the end of this week in order to give everyone in Glendale an opportunity to secure one of these choice residential sites before we make our big public announcements in the Los Angeles papers. If buyers attend this week's sale in the same numbers as at last week's, we will, however, have trouble in finding anything worth while to offer our Los Angeles clients."

"Suburban Heights is fully improved, and is being sold at less than surrounding unimproved property prices, and is well supplied with transportation facilities."

Keys to Memory
TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

The overland passenger train puffed through the mist and light rain, up the grade out of the valley and into the mountain pass. From the squat stack of the engine the regular and intermittent roars echoed far into the hills and told of the difficulties of ascent. The man who sprawled on the roof of one of the cars grumbled and clung on all the tighter.

The train was above the mist now, and it was getting colder. The man's hands grew numb and the smooth boards on all sides glistened with new made ice.

"If I can only hold on until she stops," he said, "I'll get off." He did not dare risk making his way to the end of the car while it was in motion.

At the summit there was a stretch of level track. The train took on speed. The man strained his fingers as iron hooks, for without feeling they slid over the ledge to which he tried to cling. The car tipped with the grade around a sharp turn and his heels were whipped sideways. Then his fingers refused to hold and he knew he was sliding. The man fell.

The next man knew he was in the home of a mountain. There was a handgrip and his head and scratches all over his body. A slim man whose moustache drooped like an inverted letter U, and whose bushy eyebrows pointed upward, giving him a startled look, was standing by the head.

"There now," he said, "I guess you'll be able to set up and take notice. I'll call Lize."

Lize, for all her man's suit of corduroy and heavy boots, appeared to the wondering invalid as a golden dream. Likely it was the sun shining through the tangle of blonde hair. The man shook his head in disbelief and went to sleep.

When he awakened he was bewildered once more. He did not know who or where he was. In a week he was able to walk around, to stand at the door of the house and look down upon the river and at the hills beyond.

"Pretty soon," said the mountaineer, "you'll be able to help me a bit. You are welcome to stay as long as you like. We need company and we need someone to work."

The man learned to regard Fen Willis as a friend, to listen with pleasure at his stories of hunting and trapping, and to share an interest in the crops and stock. From the first he regarded Lize, Willis' daughter, as a heroine out of his dreams. Radiant with health, direct and unaffected, Lize

SMART FROCKS DECIDE ON TUCKS

Paris has decided to lend her support to tucks, which are used with splendid effect to relieve the lines of straight frocks. A model that one could wear "all around the clock," or at least until very late in the afternoon, is pictured to the left, fashioned in dark blue wool crepe. The side panels extend above the belt line, the upper edges being smartly curved and the lower edges tucked. Collar and cuffs of the long, flowing sleeves are of self-material. Medium size requires 4 yards of 42-inch material.

Fuchsia cotton crepe is alluring for frocks of the smarter, simpler type, with tucks emphasized in the decorative scheme. To the right is illustrated a model that is generally becoming and very easy to make. The straight gathered skirt is attached to a long-waisted blouse beneath a soft girle of self-color satin. The tucks on the blouse may be hemstitched, if preferred. Very narrow fancy braid finishes the round neck, while the long sleeves are gathered into tiny wristbands. Medium size requires 5½ yards 36-inch crepe.

First Model: Pictorial Review Dress No. 1466. Sizes, 34 to 52 inches bust. Price, 35 cents.

Second Model: Dress No. 1482. Sizes, 34 to 44 inches bust. Price, 35 cents.

You can eat approximately a pound of watery fruits and vegetables for 100 C's. A large orange as an apple and pear all are about 100 C's. The drier fruits have more calories to the ounce than fresh fruits because the water has been extracted. An ounce of dried fruit is approximately 100 C's.

E. H.—You are very wrong to have the morbid attitude you have on the death of your fiancé. The experience of death is a part of life which we all have to go through and we must be philosophical about it.

You should go out more and take up some interests in life. You will lessen your own troubles in helping others to lessen theirs.

J. C.—The rule to find ideal net weight is as follows: Multiply number of inches over five feet in height, without shoes, by 5½. Add 110. If under five feet, multiply number of inches under by 5½ and subtract from 110.

In other words, if you are five feet tall, you may weigh 110 pounds, and for every inch over or under you are allowed 5½ pounds more, or less, respectively. One might vary 5 per cent over or under this rule and still be normal.

From this rule you see you are about 45 pounds overweight. It is possible that the over-eating and the under-exercising that has caused your arthritis. If you have not already sent for our instructions, send the four cents in stamps with an envelope you have addressed to yourself.

Anxious Mother—Your letter telling me of your under-nourished little girl ends up by saying that you yourself are under-nourished. I think this gives the reason why your little girl doesn't like the foods that she should have. You probably don't care for them yourself and she is imitating you. You say she gets a quart of milk a day. While we advise a quart of milk for under-nourished children daily, it occasionally happens that if they have as much as that as a drink they will not eat enough solid food, and the amount of milk has to be cut down in order to get them to eat more solids. You can see that she gets more milk in the form of simple foods such as junkies and custards. Keep her outdoors as much as possible. The little girl will sleep better when she is better nourished.

The pamphlet on gaining has been sent if you included with your request the four cents in stamps and an envelope addressed to yourself. Did you do that?

Mrs. V.—You will find that if you gain to normal weight your busts will develop. I know of no bust developer aside from this. Miss R.—You will find that if you go on the three-day liquid diet we advise—the shrinking stomach period—taking not more than 600 C's a day, your longing for pastries and candy and white bread will not be so persistent and your will power will be wonderfully strengthened, also.

BEAUTY CHATS

EDNA KENT FORBES

GOOD EYESIGHT

A 17-year-old reader of the Beauty Chats writes to tell me that she is very near-sighted and wants to know if there is anything she can do for her eyes so she will not have to wear glasses. She has been wearing them for several years.

In her special case the eyes may have inherited weakness. No doubt some opticians are too ready to prescribe glasses as the remedy for every eye trouble, just as some doctors are too ready to give drugs, and some surgeons no doubt too ready to operate. The individual patient cannot tell; he can only go to the best man he can afford, and trust him.

My young correspondent was in despair at the idea of wearing glasses the rest of her life. I do not think this will be necessary unless, as I say, her case is a very bad one. A common cause of near-sightedness is living too much indoors or in crowded cities. The eyes look too often at nearby objects which cause them to draw together. That is what is called the focal point, being near the person, draws the color part of the eyes slightly together. If you want a demonstration of this hold your finger close to someone's face and watch the eyes turning toward each other, then draw your finger away and watch the changing position of the eyeballs.

The healthiest thing for the eyes is to look at distant spaces, long stretches of country or an expanse of ocean or a distant mountain range. Many cases of near-sightedness could be cured if only these people could go far out in the country where their eyes need not concentrate almost entirely on nearby objects. Eyeglasses could be done away with not only because of this change in the focal point but also because of improved health.

A Constant Reader.—Your red nose, which is also cold most of the time, shows that your circulation is at fault, and the muddy complexion is due to a sluggish liver. A spring tonic would do much to correct the trouble with your complexion, and it may be all that you need. If it is not, consult your doctor.

L. F.—Mineral oil will not make you any stouter. Its action is only that of lubrication.

Anxious.—You could stain your brown hair with a decoction from walnut shells, or dye it the darker shade that you desire.

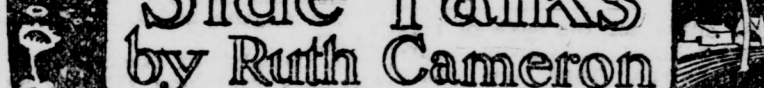

Curious.—Red circles around the eyes could come from so many causes that it would be impossible to suggest a remedy for them. Consult your doctor.

Ruth E. E.—Those tiny red lines under the skin are broken veins. It is impossible to state just what caused them, as they come sometimes from compression in parts of the body nowhere near the veins. They are not serious and will not give any further trouble if left alone.

Tomorrow—Well-Shaped Hips

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

THE WOMAN AND LIFE

Life is hard on women. You just can't get around that fact.

Life, as it is lived in the modern way, frees woman from the shackles of the economic struggle, but in every other way it penalizes her.

I drew, the other day, a picture of the father and daughter who adore each other and go everywhere together. I said sometimes a father was so devoted to his daughter that the mother actually felt a tinge of jealousy because he seemed to care more for this gift she had given him than for the giver herself. I said it was a unworthy feeling. Especially so since it was often the reincarnation of his old-time sweetheart that he loved so much in the daughter.

But Can You Blame Her?

I told the truth. It is unworthy. But, oh, isn't it natural! Even as I read over what I had written, my heart went out to the woman who saw her husband and daughter doing the things together that she used to do with him before childbirth and child-rearing had worn down her strength. Better that he do them with the daughter than with some other woman, of course. But is it so strange that even when it is her own daughter who goes while she stays home, there should be a little wistfulness in the mother's heart?

Of course the mother has the same sort of a pride in her son. The reincarnation of her one-time lover, she adores his young strength, his supple height, his boyishness, just as her husband adores his daughter's appealing sweetness.

But it is only the very exceptional mother who can have a sweetheart in her son in any such sense as the father and daughter who are sweethearts—only the mother who, by some miracle of effort or good fortune, has been able to keep her young-looking far beyond her actual age.

Whereas it is the run of the mill, man can play tennis with his daughter, swim with her and dance with her.

Most men are better looking at 45 than at 25. But how many women are? And that means with the same amount of effort to keep young on the part of each.

Much is said about the careless woman who lets herself grow old and unattractive. I am not thinking about this type, but of the type that gives an amount of care to her appearance consonant with normal living and interest in other things.

Face the Facts

Life is hard on women in matters of sentiment.

I don't blame the mother for her kind of wistfulness and even a tinge of subconscious jealousy.

But, please, you mothers who are reading this and understanding it all too well, please don't take that to mean that you should freely indulge in those feelings.

And above all don't ask for pity. Don't make the fatal mistake of wallowing in self-pity.

Things are as they are. Acknowledge that, face it, and then make the very best and the very most out of life that way, both in character and in other people's reactions to you.

Rhubarb Meringue Dessert.
Wash 1 pound of pink rhubarb and cut it into inch-long pieces. Stew it in a very little water with five tablespoons of sugar till tender, then strain the juice from it into a bowl and rub the fruit through a sieve. Return the juice to the fire and let it cook down till only a half cup of it remains. Mix this half cup of juice with the fruit part (which was put through the strainer), all the yolks of four eggs well beaten and the grated rind of one lemon. Turn this mixture into a buttered earthen dish and bake for thirty minutes in a moderate oven. Beat four egg-whites stiff and beat into them two tablespoons of sugar. Spread this meringue over the pudding dust over with sugar and return the earthen dish to the oven for ten minutes to set meringue and brown lightly. Serve very cold.

Delicious Strawberry Custards.
(This recipe, like the preceding one, calls for a good many eggs—but at least for a guest meal the housekeeper will not find it too expensive to serve.) Remove the green stalks from one cup of ripe strawberries (or one-half pound of ripe strawberries). Cut the berries small and place them in a bowl; mash and beat until they are a mere pulp, then stir into them the yolks of five eggs well beaten, five tablespoons of sugar, the strained juice of one-half lemon and one-half teaspoon of strawberry extract.

Pour this mixture into a fire-proof dish, and stand the dish in a saucepan containing a little boiling water. Bake the pan over the fire and stir the contents of the dish till it thickens. (It must not boil.) When thickened, remove from the saucepan of water and cool. When quite cold, fold in the stiffly beaten whites of five eggs. Turn the mixture into small individual custard cups and garnish each with a ripe strawberry on top.

Asparagus Eggs: This is really no different than ordinary scrambled eggs with cooked asparagus tips added to them. To make it, beat four eggs in the usual way, add to them a tablespoon of water and a couple of tablespoons of milk, and turn them into a hot frying pan with a generous lump of butter and a pinch of salt. Begin scraping the pan bottom with a large spoon and after a minute or two add one cup of diced asparagus tips. Continue to scramble the eggs till they are firm and serve.

CLUB ADVOCATES WIDENING STREET

Resolution For Improvement
Of Burchett Passed at Exchange Lunch

The Exchange Club yesterday noon held its weekly luncheon at 111 South Orange street in the new Golden Spanish cafe.

The only business discussed was a resolution introduced by R. E. Johnston of 440 South San Fernando road, chairman of the city committee, which was passed unanimously. This was as follows:

"Resolved, that the Exchange Club of Glendale recommend to the City Council that Burchett street be made an eighty foot boulevard connecting with San Fernando road at Grand View avenue, on as straight a line as possible.

"This will enable tourists and strangers coming into Los Angeles via San Fernando road to have a direct route into the heart of Glendale, thus seeing more of our city.

"We further recommend this proposed boulevard be beautified in every way possible, well lighted, and a good heavy and substantial pavement laid on same.

"We believe that this will be of great benefit to the city of Glendale as a whole, and ask the Council to take such action as is necessary for this improvement at the earliest possible date."

Increase Funds for Deaf, Blind School

SACRAMENTO, April 26.—The assembly has adopted an amendment to the budget bill providing an increase of $90,000 for the Berkeley school for the deaf and blind above the $90,000 already allowed in the Pierce-Richardson budget.

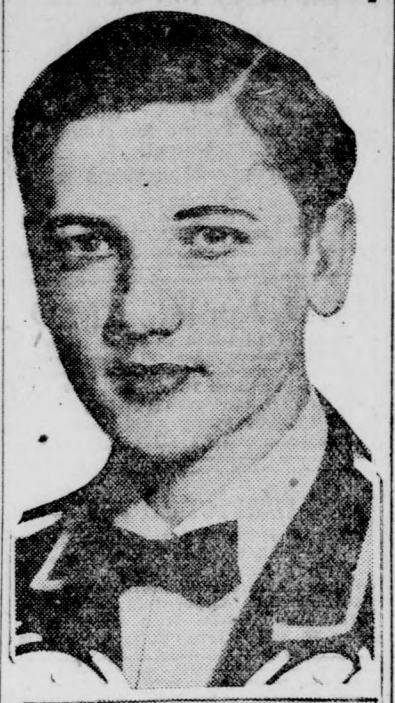

The amendment, offered by Spence of Alameda, was adopted by a vote of 42 to 34, several of the administration members voting for the increase.

The additional $90,000 is to be devoted to the building of a new school for the blind, the present building being set aside exclusively for the deaf.

SACRAMENTO, April 26.—Calling attention to the alarming spread of the contraband drug traffic and the inability of state authorities to cope with the situation, the state board of charities and corrections, in its biennial report filed with Governor Richardson, urges that the federal government be requested to adopt drastic measures in controlling the manufacture and distribution of narcotics.

The report sets forth that state hospitals are unable to properly provide for the care of victims of the illicit traffic.

McCoy is due in Seattle April 30. He is on a four months' furlough. He is said to be General Wood's closest adviser.

Germany Ready to Submit
Reparation Plan, Says

BERLIN, April 26.—What only a week ago seemed far distant is today, immediately at hand—the beginning of the end of the Ruhr adventure.

The statesmanlike speech of Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary, in the house of lords in London, pointed the way which Europe must go. Chancellor Cuno has declared in a speech that this may alter the present situation considerably.

Premier Poincare's excited speech has not changed the new attitude of the government—an attitude created by the Curzon speech.

Stripped of diplomatic phraseology, the latest official pronouncements mean that the German government is ready to make (reparations) proposals.

Already serious preparations are under way. The offer may be made at any time—possibly within twenty-four hours.

Offer to Come Soon
In these proposals the questions of reparations and France's security play a predominant role. For as German republicans there is no such question as security for France. We have learned too much from the war. Besides we are so thoroughly disarmed that we could not even imagine active resistance in the Ruhr, much less an attack against France or any other neighbor state.

We German republicans—socialists and the working mass—are ready to offer any security whatsoever that does not violate our sovereignty.

We do not need arms for the defense of our rights. The struggle in the Ruhr has shown the whole world that the economic strength of our working people is far stronger than the machinery of war.

SACRAMENTO, April 26.—The senate committee on roads and highways passed without opposition Assemblyman Coombs' bill, A. B. 1288, providing for the organization of bridge and highway districts by one or more counties or cities and counties.

The bill, which has already passed the assembly, is particularly designed to pave the way for the creation of a bridge district to include the San Francisco bay counties and to be devoted to the construction of a bridge across the Golden Gate, between San Francisco and Marin county.

TURK OIL GRANT LOOMS AS ISSUE

French Will Insist Moslems
Repudiate Concession at Peace Parley

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service
LAUSANNE, April 26.—Despite the reluctance of Great Britain and Turkey to discuss the Chester concessions in the Near East peace conference, France will bring this issue before the parley. It was authoritatively stated today.

General Pelle, French high commissioner at Constantinople, and head of the French delegation, explained the French would insist the Turks accept as part of the new treaty economic clause No. 91 of the old treaty which says that "all pre-war contracts are still valid."

Turkish acceptance of this clause would automatically repudiate the Chester grants.

Exploitation Rights
The Turks are offering the French exploitation rights along the territory tapped by the Esk-Sher railway as a compromise, but they have not yet been accepted.

Great Britain so far has made no move one way or another regarding the Turkish concessions to the Chester group, although the British claim Turkey had no right to give away oil rights in Mosul.

Joseph C. Grew, American minister to Switzerland and chief of the American observers, who announced that the United States would defend the open door in the Near East, held a number of private conferences with representatives of other delegations.

Detective Burns In Probe of Bomb Plot

LOS ANGELES, April 26.—William J. Burns, head of the bureau of investigation of the United States department of justice, questioned Herb Wilson, master crook, yesterday at the county jail for the second time on Wilson's "confession" that he provided the nitro-glycerine used in the Wall street bomb explosion.

Burns sought further details from Wilson concerning the men to whom he delivered the nitro-glycerine. Since his first interview Burns has checked up on a number of angles of Wilson's story which he planned to compare with the results of his questioning of the so-called "millionaire bandit."

Wilson told Burns that he sold the nitro-glycerine, which he and his brother stole from an explosive factory, to three men for a large sum of money. He said the men who bought the explosive said they were after the "Wall street gang."

COMMENT That's All

Two Civic Suggestions
Quit When Pay Stops
New Kind of Eminence
Freedom From Affectation

By Gil A. Cowan

NOW that Glendale's City Council has disposed of its woodland park and forgotten its airport, a few constructive things may be approached by the city administration without annoying those interests which seek to block the development of Glendale.

First—More fire protection is needed for this rapidly growing city, and it is the writer's suggestion that steps be taken at once to give the city two steam pumps capable of coping with blazes in the bigger buildings now under course of construction. Another need along the line of fire protection is a station in the Verdugo Woodlands section. Perhaps Fire Chief Lankford and City Manager Reeves (can give better suggestions, but it has been the experience of the writer to note cities waiting for a big conflagration before acting.

Second—The city of Glendale can well afford at this time to look forward to obtaining not one, but three or four civic centers. With community spirit so much in evidence, it is necessary for Glendale to live up to its reputation as an ideal home city. And a home city means parks, playgrounds, public halls, etc.

Members of the California legislature are expressing a desire to adjourn on May 14—that is the day their pay stops.

Darned if we blame the senators and assemblymen, for, besides actual expenses, they get few thanks for their work.

And, instead of working their full term, it would be our idea that the last two weeks of the session should be devoted to a vacation in California's hinterland.

The San Francisco Journal points with pride to a "tribute" given American architecture, saying editorially:

"As a nation we think it a matter of course that experts from Europe should visit our mechanical and industrial centers to study our methods and gather new ideas. We also think it natural that our citizens should go to Europe for instruction in the fine arts and in what are called 'cultural' subjects. The general view of the matter is that Europe leads us in the arts as conspicuously as we lead her in the industries.

"There are indications, however, that we are rapidly acquiring a new kind of eminence. The English Society of Architects has recently established a scholarship requiring the holder to visit the United States for six months and afterward to submit to the society a report on certain aspects of the development of modern architecture. This is one of the most impressive tributes thus far to our growing prestige in the world of art.

"Probably our greatest contribution to the art of the world will be in a combination of utility with beauty. According to Ruskin this is the sovereign test of all success in architecture. Decorative features bearing no relation to the utilitarian purpose for which a building is designed tend to give an effect of ornamentation which Ruskin condemned as mere ostentation and vanity. Whether he was right or not, it is certain that the careful adaptation of detail in the best American architecture to the idea of service has introduced a simplicity and clean directness that are in themselves outstanding qualities of beauty. There is a restraint, rationality, balance and clearness of design in the most characteristic examples of American architecture that give it a spirituality of its own. The same traits are reflected in our ideals of character—absence of pretense and complexity, a serene acceptance of the laws of nature as the rules of the game; courage, clear-sighted optimism and a desire in action for a perfect economy of means, in which every gesture will move directly toward its goal. The same qualities show in the work of our writers, inventors, executives, athletes and leaders in the other fields in which we are nationally interested. They show in the freedom from affectation and prejudice that distinguishes the best type of American gentleman. It is an essential virtue that the character of a nation and its architecture should be of one piece. American buildings deserve a high rating."

May we not suggest that they visit Glendale and see what is being done along practical, artistic construction lines here?

TODAY—Duke N. Parry, Tokio correspondent, describes the different kinds of tourists to be found in the Orient at this time of year, and tells of the "dual life" led by Japanese since the advent of western culture.

TOMORROW—Young women of not too discriminating taste as to methods find it easy to provide themselves with as much money and as good clothes and gems as their hearts desire in Chicago, writes John D. Mueller, of the Chicago staff.

By DUKE N. PARRY
For International News Service

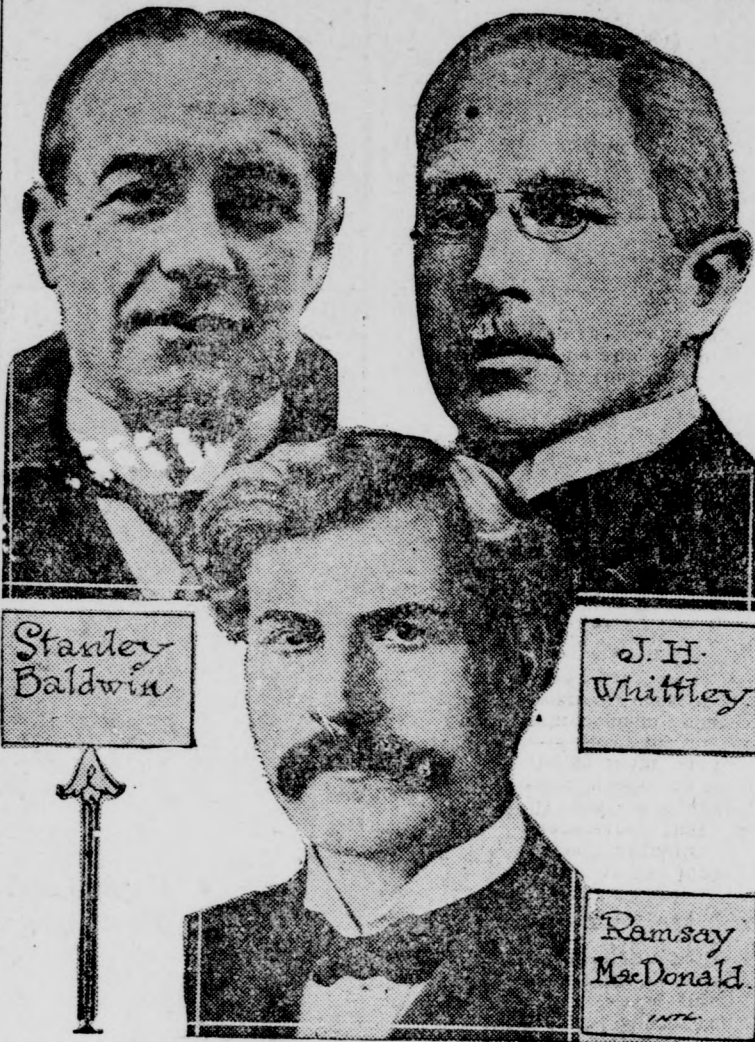

TOKIO, Japan, April 26.—The tourist season in the Orient. Ships from New York bringing to Yokohama, as the first port of call, the inquisitive tourist, the world tourist of world knowledge, the New York flapper out on a lark after having finished boarding school. And then the "average American" tourist, to whom the word Orient means merely a great jumble of nations and customs. There is China, there is Japan, there is Korea, and down around the sea route is a mysterious, hot India where the British are having trouble to assert rule. Vagueness characterizes the knowledge of the average American tourist who sets out to see the Orient.

Your tourist from New York knows China because of Chinese ware in which the soap back home is served; he likes the Peking glass beads which are popular in Fifth avenue shops right now. He knows Korea because American missionaries returning home have told him that the Koreans are mistreated by the Japanese, and because in truth Korea was the first big tract of land that Japan set out to use as a stepping stone to Asia. Mystery plays and magic have made India popular, for down in India there is the original crystal gazer in whose wonderful glass ball may be unfolded the mysteries of life. And then there is Japan, progressive young wonder in the world of nations; Japan, whose ambition, practically admitted, is to lead, perhaps to dominate completely not only her own islands and Korea, but all the section of the world which is Asia.

Japanese take this leadership seriously. It is not from this idea of leadership alone that the young man of Japan, and even the young woman of progress, set out to take up and learn western customs. They are an inquisitive race, these Japanese, and they want to have, without any sacrifice of their own civilization, a knowledge and a working use of western dress, customs, manners. This calls for a dual language at least, a dual dress, almost a dual life on the part of the Japanese who would go out in the public eye of Tokio, as the up-to-the-minute Japanese of 1923.

It is an expensive thing, this dual civilization of Japan. "It almost brings us to bankruptcy," said a young Japanese of moderate means the other day. "It is all right for the marikin (Japanese over-night millionaire) to build a foreign palace for his foreign guests, while he lives in a comfortable Japanese home ad-

LABOR LEADERS STIR HOUSE Demonstration Against Bonar Law Cabinet

Ramsay MacDonald, labor leader of the British House of Commons, led the laborites in their demonstration against the A. Bonar Law cabinet, singing "red" songs. The disorder was so great when Chancellor of the Exchequer Stanley Baldwin sought to defend the government that Speaker John Henry Whitley was forced to suspend the session.

SCIENCE and INVENTION

FLYING HINTS OFFERED BY THE VULTURE
PROF. LANGLEY'S first successful experiment in flying was made with an airplane of hardly more than toy size, which, equipped with a motor, winged its way over the Potomac for a distance of a mile. Needless to say, it did not carry a man. He said then that the future of the flying machine would depend upon the hoped-for creation of an engine of great power and relatively small bulk. The automobile engine solved that problem. Prof. Langley took as his model the soaring bird, and, for the purpose of his study, he built in the Zoo park, just outside of Washington, a tall skeleton tower of wood, from the top of which he would watch for hours together the flight of turkey buzzards. Anybody who observes a turkey buzzard will be struck by the likeness of its movements to those of an airplane. Nor is this surprising, inasmuch as the soaring ability of both is based upon the same fundamental principle in physics. But the buzzard, though it may be said to be provided with an engine, can navigate the air almost without the use of power. Where flying is concerned, power is not indispensable as we are

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND TIPPY'S TOP
Do you remember Tippy Tumble the funny little puppy dog brother of Jack and Peetie Bow Wow? I told you a story about Tippy Tumble, if you happen to recollect it—how Tippy was always carrying away Uncle Wiggily's glasses and slippers and hiding them. Well, this is another story about the same funny, little puppy chap. One day there sounded a tapping noise on the door of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. Can that be the Fuzzy Wolf? asked Nurse Jane, the muskrat lady housekeeper. "Oh, no, he wouldn't be so bold," spoke the bunny gentleman. "It must be one of the animal children." And so it was—there stood Tippy Tumble on the doorstep. The reason he was called Tippy Tumble was because he was always tumbling down. And he did it this time. He fell right off the steps. "Oh, my dear Tippy, I hope you didn't hurt yourself!" cried Uncle Wiggily as he hurried to pick up the little puppy. "No, I'm not hurt—thank you," barked Tippy Tumble. "But I guess I now—I guess I dropped my penny." "Here it is," said Uncle Wiggily, picking the penny up out of the dust and handing it back to Tippy Tumble. "What are you going to do with all that money, Tippy?" "I'm going to buy a spinning top," answered the puppy. "And I came to see if you'd go to the toy store with me and help me pick out a good top." "Why, of course I will," answered Uncle Wiggily. Nurse Jane, hearing this, said "Tut, tut! Nonsense! I never heard of such a thing in all my life!" But, not minding what his muskrat lady housekeeper said, Uncle Wiggily hopped along to the store with little Tippy Tumble and soon they had bought the finest top to be had for a penny. Uncle Wiggily was in rather a hurry to get back to his hollow stump bungalow, for he had told Grandma Goosey he would play Scotch checkers that day. But before Tippy and the rabbit gentleman had hopped more than ten feet from the toy store, Tippy Tumble cried: "Please wait a minute, Uncle Wiggily!" "What's the matter? Have you tumbled down again?" asked the bunny uncle who had hopped on a little way ahead. "No, I didn't fall down," whined Tippy, "but please I want you to stop until I spin my new top." "Oh, I can't stop now, Tippy," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'm in a hurry." "If you don't stop I—now I'll cry—and I'll cry real hard and real tears," threatened Tippy. "Oh, bless my pink nose!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, resigned like and patient. "I don't want you to cry, Tippy. All right, I'll wait—go on, spin your top." So Uncle Wiggily waited while Tippy spun his top. Then they went on again until all of a sudden Tippy called again: "Stop, I want to spin my new top some more, and if you don't stop I'm going to cry real hard." "Tippy, I'm afraid I'm spoiling you," said Uncle Wiggily. "But I'll stop just once more." So he waited until Tippy spun the top again, and then they went on, but they had not gone very far before, all of a sudden, out of the bushes sprang the Wolf. The Wolf, caught Uncle Wiggily up under one paw and caught Tippy Tumble up under the other paw, and off through the woods he ran with them. "Oh, dear!" sadly sighed Uncle Wiggily.

The loan was made to the Chinese republic in 1916.

SOCKET AND RHEOSTAT COMBINATION

Truly the present radio wave of popularity is bringing forth a great variety of ideas. The illustration shows a combination of a vacuum tube socket and rheostat combined. In this combination the wiring necessary in the use of these two parts, separately, is eliminated. The inventor has named it the "socolet." Still, not all the children who are told to be seen and not heard get into the movies.

Prison Sentence for Rich Wine Merchant

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—Theodore Gier, millionaire wine merchant of Oakland, was sentenced by Judge John S. Partridge to serve three months in the Alameda county jail in addition to paying a fine of $1500 for violation of the national prohibition law. In sentencing him, Judge Partridge declared respect for the law must be taught with more severe sentences. Gier had entered a plea of guilty. His nephew, Henry Gier, was sentenced to pay fines aggregating $2500 and Gus Lindeman, a friend, $1,000 and thirty days in jail, and Fred Poeller was fined an aggregate of $1000. The men were charged with the possession of a quantity of wine.

CLARA PHILLIPS REMAINS SILENT

Refuses to Admit Identity As Hammer Murderess In Honduras Cell

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, April 26.—Seated in a large, ill-lighted room on the second floor of police headquarters, besides a long French window, without bars, looking out into the dirty sun-scorched tropic street, the woman who is being held here on suspicion of being Clara Phillips, notorious Los Angeles, Calif., "hammer murderess," today smiled a defiant challenge when told of preparations being made to take her back to California, where she escaped from prison.

"I have refused to waive extradition," said the woman, who is known here as Mrs. Jesse Carson, but who was known on the journey through Salvador as Mrs. Young.

"I will not say I am Clara Phillips, nor will I say I am not Clara Phillips. I am not going to say anything at all."

Her lips parted and a smile again flared up in her hard, bold eyes. Neither she nor the woman who was arrested with her has shown any sign of fright, although the man in the party, Jesse Carson, lost his nerve and consented to return to Los Angeles without extradition papers. He is charged with arson.

Policeman on Guard The trio have been detained since their arrest last Saturday afternoon at the request of Franklin Morales, the American minister. Mrs. Carson, who is suspected of being Clara Phillips, is held in a typical tropical bedroom, 40 by 20 feet in size. There are four doors and two long windows. The only guard is a policeman with a long rifle posted at one of the doors and the policeman on duty downstairs.

The chief of police said that if the identity of the woman was established, it would have been necessary to hold her in the penitentiary, but so long as it is uncertain, he had to detain her in the latter quarters.

L. A. Shipping Being Tied Up By Strike

LOS ANGELES, April 26.—Suddenly bringing into effect their call for a strike on the Los Angeles water front, members of the I. W. W. today had succeeded in tying up half a dozen steam schooners, had placed a number of men on the wharves for picket duty, and were claiming that before night all shipping operations in the port would be crippled.

All members of the harbor police division on leave of absence were hurriedly called back for duty and placed at strategic points to await developments.

COMMUNITY SING SATISFIES CROWD

and response on behalf of the women's clubs of Glendale was given by Dr. Jessie A. Russell. Particularly enjoyable was the hour of community singing, led by Hugh Kirchhofer.

The latter half of the program was a group of selections for which high admission charge would be required on regular occasions.

Well-Known Artists
Appearing first was Charles Wakefield Cadman, nationally known composer and musician, who accompanied Margaret Meier Morris, lyric soprano, in the singing of his "Robin Woman's Song" from the opera "Shanewis" and "The Land of the Sky-Blue Water."

Other artists taking part were J. Plowe, well-known flutist, and Sol Cohen, popular violinist. Selections were also given by the Hollywood Women's club chorus of fifty voices, directed by Mr. Kirchhofer.

At the close of the program Mrs. Carter took occasion to thank Glendale for the appreciation of the entertainment and she extended an invitation to Glendale to present a program in Hollywood.

The final event was a brief talk by Val M. Hollister, president of Glendale Community Service.

ASSEMBLY MIXED ON BUDGET BILL

Plot Launched To Frustrate Economy Program Of State Executive

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News
SACRAMENTO, April 26.—Boy, page A. Philadelphia Lawyer. Today the assembly of the California legislature is trying to determine what the budget act, passed at last November's election, means.

Surely, it means a lot, for it has caused a hiatus in legislative activity insofar as appropriations are concerned. And, it may take an extra session of a constitutional amendment to settle the scrap.

Opponents of Richardson's recommendations are trying to effect a legal block on his effort to keep the state's expenditures within the $10,000,000 estimated revenue. It is their contention that the budget act requires the governor to submit a budget carrying all appropriations, including those established by constitution or statute. This would make the total figure about $116,000,000. These opponents for political purposes desire to embarrass the governor by making him submit to recurrent appropriations, such as university, flood control, etc., appearing in the budget bill. It is Richardson's contention that repeal of all the statutes covering such appropriations will then be in order, leaving it up to every legislature just what amounts will be granted established activities of the state. Inasmuch as the current appropriations are set forth in the budget, but not in the budget bill, the attorney general's office has prepared, and Chairman Chester Kline of the Ways and Means committee today submitted to the assembly amendments to the budget bill which will clarify the situation.

Oppose Program
To this program, however, Richardson's opponents do not subscribe. They had an informal meeting last night at which Assemblyman Albert Rosenhouse, San Francisco legal light, endeavored to explain why they should hold fast to the demand that all appropriations, special, recurrent, or otherwise, be placed in the budget.

In analyzing this most unusual situation, one must take into consideration the political, psychological, legal and economic phases of the question, first dealing with the history of the case.

Will C. Wood, state superintendent of schools, and others, from the start of the budget fight, have endeavored to establish the fact that the budget calls for about $116,000,000 instead of $10,000,000.

The governor holds that constitutional and statutory appropriation should not be part of the budget as presented in the general appropriation bill, as they are

GIRLS' ATHLETIC PROGRAM STAGED

Games And Pageant Shown As Part of Play Week Activities

Activities of "Play Week" continued today with the girls' athletic program this afternoon on the high school grounds under the direction of Miss Florence M. Knight. The program included a posture parade, demonstration of calisthenics, organized games and a pageant.

Tonight the high school orchestra, directed by Mrs. Dora Gibson, will give a program in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock. This program was planned for Friday night, but because of conflicting dates it will be given tonight.

Proceeds from the program are to buy a set of kettle drums to be used by the orchestra. Another affair tonight will be the neighborhood party at the Acacia Avenue school at 7:30 o'clock.

things over which neither he nor the board of control have any say.

And, it was on the latter assumption that Mrs. Nellie Pierce, budget chief, proceeded to act. But, Tuesday night, in the discussion of Assemblyman Otto Emmes proposal to add $1,250,000 to the appropriation bill for the Southern branch university in Los Angeles, it was brought out that $1,000,000 of the amount was duplicated under the head of recurrent, statutory expenditures.

Attorneys got busy and placed the matter before Controller Ray L. Riley, who is considered anti-administration. He took up the legal phase of the question with attorneys for his bondsmen, and in their wisdom they advised him to honor no warrants for recurrent appropriations unless they were included in the budget bill.

To overcome this fine point of law, which was well taken in the opinion of the attorney general's office, amendments were prepared to the budget bill which now is before the house for consideration. They put all constitutional and statutory appropriations into the measure by a blanket statement, without giving any set amount.

Political opponents of Richardson do not propose to accept this amendment because it would concede him a victory, they claim. Psychologically, the governor is opposed to placing recurrent appropriations in the budget because it would make it appear that his administration has spent $115,000,000 during the biennium, when in fact it had only dealt with $10,000,000, or thereabouts.

Legally, there must be an amendment to the budget bill, either in the form of a blanket clause covering constitutional and statutory expenditures, or a specified list of these appropriations. Economically, the situation re-

Harrower Nine Wins From Legion's Team

The Harrower Laboratory baseball team yesterday defeated the team from the American Legion in a five-inning baseball game on the Glendale Union High school grounds, by a score of 5 to 3. The game was a part of the program that is being carried out this week in connection with the Play Week activities arranged by the Community Service.

Bombs And Gun Fire Used In Dublin Riot

DUBLIN, April 26.—A heavy burst of firing and bomb explosions broke out early today when irregular snipers began an attack from rooftops on Free State troops patrolling O'Connell street. Bombs were thrown from the roofs, but they failed to do any damage beyond tearing up the street.

home for delinquent women which was destroyed by fire. The Los Angeles assessor's office desire to have the date of statement of property advanced from March to January, as proposed in Edwin Baker's constitutional amendment No. 29, was defeated 56 to 13, the agricultural interests protesting it would catch the farmer with his crops and the merchants sold out of stocks, thereby benefiting the latter.

Assembly concurrent resolution No. 10 by the late Dr. Douglas, accepting federal aid for highways in the redwood forests was adopted. The senate also ground out its grist of bills yesterday and adjourned early.

conferences and picnics, pointing out that, properly used, they advertise Glendale as nothing else can do. He cited the Long Beach convention as an instance, stating that Glendale's gratifying representation did a great deal to call to the attention of visiting realty men the advantages of this city.

Mr. Guthrie paid a tribute to Dr. Jessie A. Russell, for the stirring address she made at Long Beach last Saturday. He also referred to Lloyd Wilson, president of the San Fernando Improvement Association, as "the man who has put the south end of Glendale on the map."

Mr. Wilson responded by inviting the board to be present on Saturday night, April 28, when San Fernando road celebrates the installation of its new street lights with a public reception.

Boost For Tujunga
Dr. J. W. Theobald, president of the Tujunga Realty Board and a special guest of the Glendale body, then delivered a "silver-tongued" address, urging the get-together spirit, boosting Tujunga and ending up by tendering the whole Glendale board an invitation to be the guests of the Tujunga board at a banquet on May 21, which will follow a performance by the John Stephen McGroarty Players in "The Valley of the Moon."

The club voted to accept this invitation and will attend en masse.

Dr. Jessie A. Russell gave a short talk, urging the board to get behind C. T. Wardlaw of Van Nuys in his candidacy for a position on the Los Angeles City Council, primaries for which are to be held May 1.

E. P. Hayward, secretary of the Glendale Realty Board, presented a verbal communication from Commander Chalmers Day of the American Legion, asking that the Legion be given an exchange for the present building site, inasmuch as the citizens of the district object to the erection of such a structure as it is proposed to build.

The property consists of over two acres, with a frontage of 400 feet on Mountain street, east of Campbell street, and realty men who will co-operate with the Legion in negotiating an exchange should communicate with Commander Day, it was announced.

President Thom stated that hereafter meetings of the board will be held at the Harriett Mae Tea rooms, on Harvard and Maryland, after which the meeting adjourned.

ENTERTAIN HIGH SCHOOL PLAYERS

Roberts & Echols Hosts to Ball Team at Party and Theatre

Fifteen members of the Glendale Union High School baseball squad were the guests of Roberts & Echols last night at a theatre party and at an elaborate supper afterwards, the event being arranged by the members of the firm with the idea of showing the boys that the merchants of Glendale are behind them in their efforts to give the High School team that will worthily represent the school.

George Dennis, manager of the Roberts & Echols fountain, planned and carried out the affair. He chaperoned the boys to the Glendale theatre where they watched Pola Negri in her presentation of "Mad Love," and afterwards the boys were round to the store, serving them with ice cream frozen in the shape of a baseball and with the bats made from bananas, the plates on which these confections were served, having the letters "G. U. H. S." around the edges. Mr. Dennis is given the credit for designing the "Mad Love" refreshments, which made the biggest kind of a hit with the ball tossers, who cheered their hosts when the time came for them to leave.

Photographs of the team were taken and will be used during the season when the boys make an especially creditable showing in any of their games.

It had been planned originally to hold the theatre party and the supper after the Monrovia game, but when Monrovia called up and cancelled the game Roberts & Echols decided to go ahead with their program.

Seek To Raise Fund To Purchase Option

been formed by Mr. Gulick as the financing organization for the motor bus project, to have as many local men on its board as possible, in order to make it certain that the interests of Glendale in the company may be paramount, and this suggestion met with the approval of those present, the decision was reached being to add six more Glendale business men to those already on the board, C. D. Gulick, Sidney Gilhuly and Alex Mitchell. These directors will be named later, as soon as the board can legally act on the matter.

Key to Situation
The impossibility of carrying on the motor bus business in Glendale alone on a profitable basis was stressed by Mr. Jones, who declared that the Verdugo Hills Transportation Company's property forms the key to the entire inter-urban motor bus system as it affects Glendale, and this must be secured if Glendale is to have access to Los Angeles. The state railroad commission, he asserted, has shown itself favorably disposed toward the Gulick application for a permit to enter Los Angeles, and the assurance that the money has been made available for the purchase of the Verdugo Hills Transportation Company's assets would practically clinch the granting of the permit, thus giving Glendale not only an efficient local system, but also an inter-urban system that would permit the people of this city to reach Los Angeles. Failure to secure the Verdugo Hills system, however, will result in the refusal of the permits, Mr. Jones stated.

Various suggestions were put forward by those present at the luncheon, and a number of the objections to the plan that have been made by those who have been approached were quoted, but the opposition to the project was declared by Councilman Sam Davis to be based entirely on propaganda put forth by those who are interested in seeing the proposition defeated.

Solution to Problem
The necessity for having Glendale men on the board of the proposed company was stressed by Chairman Radke as being the only solution of the problem and as leading to the promise of sufficient support to assure the taking up of the option before the date set for its expiration, and in this connection H. M. Butts insisted that Glendale should own its own franchise and that it should be guaranteed that no franchises that may be secured by Mr. Gulick shall be transferred to any interests that would have a tendency to lower the efficiency of the system.

The subscription of money by local business men, it was claimed, would start the ball rolling in other quarters and no difficulty would be experienced in collecting sufficient to meet the payment on the option, and the committee that was appointed is working with this end in view, tackling the problem in an aggressive manner that will, it is predicted, put it across successfully by Friday morning at the latest and allow plenty of time to take up the option.

Subscriptions of $500 each were promised yesterday at the luncheon by George Bentley, H. M. Butts, W. H. Hooper, Ed Radke and S. Gilhuly, and with this as a start, the committee is working strenuously today to secure the balance of the money required, a large share of which has been promised by some of the men who are subdividing property in this region, either as individuals or through their financial connections.
